Olympic equestrian project 'confident'

MEMBERS of a consortium bidding to establish an Olympic equestrian centre near Newmarket are expecting to hear tomorrow whether they have been successful.

The centre, expected to cost around £30 million, will include a major hotel as well as training facilities for equestrian teams taking part in the London Olympics.

The London 2012 organising committee (LOCOG) is due to announce its chosen training centres tomorrow. But the consortium behind the scheme, known as Stetchworth Equine, is determined to press ahead even if it is not on the list.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

One of the town's leading horse vets, Greenwood Ellis and Partners, teamed up with landowners the Duke of Sutherland's Stetchworth Estate to propose the centre, originally revealed more than a year ago.

Its main competitor is expected to be the Great Leighs centre in Essex.

The site for the Newmarket centre is next to the new horse hospital currently being built for Greenwood Ellis. The hospital, due to open in August, is expected to be the best in Europe and one of the best in the world.

Larry LeGgatt, of Stetchworth Equine, said: "We are very confident. We have been working very closely with East Cambridgeshire District Council and it's looking very favourable."

He said the project would be commercially financed and did not rely on the Lottery or other funding.

"We believe the facilities we would leave in place would be of global standard and we see it being used for world games and for teams from all over to come and compete in major events.

"It will bring in a lot of tourism, a lot of employment and a lot of money."

The consortium has emphasised in its bid that Newmarket is only about an hour's travelling time by road to the London site where the main Olympic events will be staged.

He said Marshall's had agreed that the necessary arrangements could be made to bring horses in through Cambridge Airport for the Olympics.

Although Newmarket has been a horse-racing centre for centuries, there is not a top-class show-jumping or eventing facility in the area.

Clare's run to save lives

HORSE hospital secretary Clare Fleming is hoping to raise more than £1,000 for the Anthony Nolan Trust by running in this year's Flora London Marathon.

Ms Fleming, 38, secretary at Rossdales vets' diagnostic centre in Exning, will be tackling her third marathon.

She completed the Dublin Marathon and last year's London Marathon, when she raised about £900 for Newmarket-based charity Racing Welfare.

She said: "I am delighted to be given the chance to take up the challenge again of my third marathon, in aid of the Anthony Nolan Trust and am very grateful to Rossdales for boosting my fundraising target with a generous donation.

"I approached the trust in the hope of running on their behalf on the suggestion of my sister, Sarah."

Sarah Fleming was part of the UK Pension Fund Management Team at Morgan Grenfell in the 1990s, headed by Nicola Horlick whose eldest daughter, Georgina, was then battling with leukaemia.

"Sadly, Georgina lost her nine-year battle with leukaemia in 1998 at the age of just 12," Clare said.

"Nevertheless, the work of the Anthony Nolan Trust impressed upon us that we all, by the simple act of a test, potentially have the real chance to save a life."

She appealed for anyone interested in sponsoring her to visit www.justgiving.com/clare fleming

Charity needs worthwhile causes to support

A CHARITY which raised £3,000 at a Valentine's dinner-dance has appealed for applications to help spend the cash.

The ABC Charitable Trust raised the money at the event held at Newmarket racecourse when "million dollar" notes autographed by personalities including jockeys Lester Piggott and Frankie Dettori, Arsenal manager Arsene Wenger and Apollo 13 astronaut Jim Lovell were auctioned.

Simon Gibson, a trustee of the charity, said: "Since the inception of the ABC Charitable Trust we have given money to very worthwhile individuals, families and institutions.

"We have given £200 for library books to a local village library and over £1,000 to purchase a bicycle trailer for a child suffering from quad-riplegic cerebral palsy as well as many other grants in between.

"Our trustees look at every request we receive, but the biggest problem we have is that we are just not getting enough requests for help.

"Thanks to events like the Valentine's Ball, we have a healthy bank balance which we would like to spend on local worthwhile causes".

If you would like more information on the ABC Charitable Trust or indeed would like it to help you, go online and visit the website www.abctrustea.org.uk or email info@abctrustea.org.uk

Jools set for 12th year at racecourse

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

BAND leader and television presenter Jools Holland and Girls Aloud are two acts set to return to Newmarket racecourse for the summer concerts.

Jools Holland's Rhythm and Blues Orchestra will feature former Soft Cell singer Marc Almond as one of the guest vocalists with Ruby Turner and Louise Marshall.

The orchestra, which has been playing for more than 20 years, also features Jools' long-time musical partner Gilson Lavis on drums.

Their appearance for the 12th year at the Newmarket Nights concerts, will follow a six-week spring run of Later with Jools Holland on BBC television.

Jools and the orchestra will be performing on June 27, the second of the seven-night series of Friday shows. He has previously appeared later in the series in August and has regularly attracted sell-out crowds.

Stephen Wallis, managing director of Newmarket Race courses, said: "It is very exciting to be welcoming Jools Holland and his Rhythm and Blues Orchestra back, especially as he is going to be joined by some amazing performers.

■ POPULAR . . . Jools Holland.

"Jools is immensely popular with the Newmarket Nights audience and we look forward to another wonderful show in 2008."

The announcement that Girls Aloud will join the impressive line-up for the Newmarket Nights concerts has come amid speculation that group member Nadine Coyle has quit the line-up following her non-appearance at last week's Brit Awards.

The five girls, who shot to fame after winning the television show Pop Stars – The Rivals in 2002, are one of Britain's most successful pop acts.

They have had a record-breaking 17 consecutive top-10 singles, five platinum albums and sold-out tours.

They were previously at Newmarket's July racecourse in August, 2004, when they performed with Darius.

Fans were cheered last week when Cheryl Cole showed up at the Brits despite her heartbreak over her footballer husband Ashley Cole and his alleged infidelities.

This year the band is due to perform on July 18.

The announcements mean there are now five acts confirmed for the concerts, which are held after Friday races.

Canadian rocker Bryan Adams will open on June 20 and Boyzone will perform on the last night on August 15. James Morrison is booked for July 25.

Tickets can be booked at (01638) 675500 or from www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk

Hunters help forces charity

HUNT supporters collected nearly £1,500 for a charity that helps injured soldiers and other service personnel.

The cash was collected when the Newmarket and Thurlow Hunt met at Tattersalls in Newmarket.

The money will go towards sponsorship of The Big Battlefield Bike Ride later this year in aid of the charity Help for Heroes.

The charity aims to raise £6 million to build a new gym and swimming therapy complex at the Tri-Service Rehabilitation Centre at Headley Court, near Epsom.

For more details about Help for Heroes go online and visit its website www.helpforheroes.org.uk or call Lottie Kaye on 07920 516482.

Pub break in

THIEVES stole nearly £50 from a pub by breaking in after it had shut.

A window at the White Hart in High Street, Tuddenham, near Mildenhall, was forced before cash, believed to be staff tips, was stolen.

Anyone with information about the raid, which happened between 11pm on Sunday, February 17, and 10.50am on Monday, February 18, should call Pc Sarah Chapman at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Valuables taken

The thief got in through an unlocked door at the house in Oak Drive, Beck Row, near Mildenhall between 10pm and 10.30pm on Tuesday, February 19.

Anyone with information about the incident should call Pc Mike Geeson of Brandon police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Planners back scheme to turn post office into flats

NEWMARKET could be left with just one post office if a plan to convert the other one into flats goes ahead.

Planners are recommending that proposals to convert the Exning Road post office and shop into five flats be approved – despite opposition from the town council and some people living in the area.

If the scheme goes ahead it will leave just the town's main post office in the High Street. Other sub-post offices in New Cheveley Road and Valley Way closed several years ago.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The Exning Road office has, so far, not been earmarked for closure by Royal Mail. A report on the future of sub-post offices in the region is not expected until July.

But the owners have submitted an application for permission to convert the building, at the King Edward Road junction, into one two-bedroom flat, two one-bedroom flats and two bedsits.

The scheme will not lead to major external changes apart from the replacement of a garage door with a window.

The town council has objected to the scheme on the grounds of over-development and the lack of off-street car parking.

Councillor Bill Burch, Newmarket's Mayor, said: "My view is that this would not be good for the people of Newmarket."

Some neighbours support the scheme but others have argued that the post office should be saved.

A letter submitted to Forest Heath District Council said the sub-post office was needed because queues were too long at the High Street office and it was too far for people living in the area to walk to the High Street.

Forest Heath District Council planners have said the scheme should be approved when it is considered by the planning committee on Wednesday.

Dave Beighton, planning officer, said in his report to the committee: "Given the presence of other such convenience establishments, it is not considered that the loss of this convenience store and post office would cause demonstrable harm."

Gala sporting dinner raises £8,000 for charity

FORMER England footballer Frank Worthington was among the guests at a sporting dinner which raised more than £8,000 for charities linked with horseracing and farming.

The event, at the Swynford Paddocks Hotel in Six Mile Bottom, near Newmarket, also had England fast bowler Chris Silverwood on the VIP guest list.

Derek Thompson, Channel 4 television and Talk Sport presenter, ran a charity auction for a range of sporting memorabilia. Among the items sold was a photograph of the 1966 World Cup-winning England team signed by nine of the players.

Other lots included racing silks signed by top jockey Frankie Dettori, an England football shirt autographed by Michael Owen and a cricket bat signed by Andrew Flintoff and Shane Warne.

The dinner was organised by Newmarket-based lawyer Mark Edmondson and Richard Levin, of the property and business consultancy Brown & Co.

The money raised will be shared between Racing Welfare, the Injured Jockeys' Fund and the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution.

Clocktower gets thumbs up

CONTROVERSIAL plans for a busy road junction have been given a cautious welcome by town councillors – but the scheme has been condemned by the Mayor.

Cllr Bill Burch, Mayor of Newmarket, said Suffolk County Council's proposals for the town's Clocktower junction would bring traffic to a standstill. "I don't think it's workable and I think Newmarket will die," he told a council meeting.

But town councillors voted by a majority to welcome the £600,000 scheme, although they have asked county council highways experts to rethink a proposed ban on right turns for traffic leaving the Waitrose supermarket.

Rod Sore, county council traffic and safety engineer, told the town council that the junction had a bad record for accidents – particularly those involving cyclists and motorcyclists.

There were five collisions resulting in injuries last year and a further five in 2006.

"There's no doubt there's a problem which is not going to go away," he said. "Doing nothing is not an option."

Explaining that engineers would change the surface on approaches to the new roundabout, he said: "We are trying to create a calmed area that will slow everything down."

Although the junction will have no specific crossing points for pedestrians, he said the scheme would work like similar junctions in Holland and Denmark where slower-moving traffic would give pedestrians more chance to cross the road safely.

The scheme will create a plaza area on one side of the historic Clocktower – built to celebrate Queen Victoria's Jubilee, and the High Street will be off-set so traffic will pass the tower on one side, not both sides as at present.

Cllr Burch said: "Aesthetically it is very pleasing. But I feel it will create an awful lot of problems."

Cllr Chris Turner, Deputy Mayor, said he believed that Rous Road would become a "rat run" that local drivers would use to avoid traffic hold-ups in Old Station Road approaching the Clocktower.

Construction is due to start this spring and expected to be phased over nine months. The county council has promised to avoid carrying out the work when the town is busy for major horse racing meetings. The scheme may not be finished until next year.

Teen locked up for threatening police

A FORMER binge drinker has been sent to a young offenders' institution for threatening police.

Timothy Finn, 19, was arrested when police were called to Newmarket's Portland House homeless hostel in November.

He emerged from a room at the High Street hostel swearing and threatened officers with a club, magistrates heard.

Finn, of St James, Icewell Hill, Newmarket, admitted affray and was sentenced to 16 weeks in a young offenders' institution.

He was given a four-week concurrent term for a further offence of possessing cannabis which he also admitted.

Finn was originally released on conditional bail by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds for an assessment of his suitability for a drink and drug rehabilitation referral.

The court heard that the incident at the hostel happened after Finn had drunk two and a half bottles of vodka with friends. He was later arrested for having cannabis while on bail for hostel incident.

Supermarket takeover leads to 35 new jobs

A SUPERMARKET takeover has created 35 new jobs.

All 62 existing staff have kept their posts following Sainsbury's takeover of Mildenhall's former Budgens store and additional jobs have also been created.

Sainsbury's bought the St Andrew's Street store to establish a presence in the town in preparation for the long-awaited new Sainsbury's store which is due to be built nearby on the site of the town's social and bowls club and part of the Recreation Way car park.

The former Budgens store has undergone a major refit and will officially open as Sainsbury's at 9am tomorrow.

Frederick Theobald, who worked at Budgens for 43 years and has now transferred to Sainsbury's, will help store manager Tracy Mulchansingh to cut the ribbon to open the new supermarket.

Its first customer will also get champagne and a bouquet.

A Sainsbury's spokesman said a formal application for the new store is expected to be submitted in the next 10 days. The scheme has been under discussion for 15 months.

The new supermarket is due to be open for business in the spring of 2010. But part of the scheme involves providing a new social and bowls club on another site in the town.

Marked trees are part of a survey

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

■ POPULAR PUBLIC PATH . . . The Devil's Dyke, heading towards Wood Ditton.

A HERITAGE body has promised to carry out consultation before any more trees are cut down on an ancient earthwork.

English Heritage has responded to local people's concern about the future of trees on the southern section of The Devil's Dyke, near Newmarket.

They were worried that paintmarks on trees in the Stetchworth and Wood Ditton meant that a new round of felling was about to start.

There was controversy in 2006 when Cambridgeshire County Council closed a section of the Dyke – an earth bank and ditch which extends for seven miles – for tree pruning and felling.

But now English Heritage, which is involved with the county council and English Nature in the maintenance and preservation of the Dyke, has said the marks on the trees are part of a survey.

A spokesman for English Heritage said: "In order to allow a revision of the Devil's Dyke management plan to include the heavily-wooded south-east end, about which there is insufficient information, a consultant has recently been engaged to carry out a comprehensive tree survey.

"English Heritage, English Nature and Cambridgeshire County Council all support this study, as a united management approach is needed to ensure that its varied special interests are fully evaluated and appropriate management measures debated.

"Clearing this end of the Dyke for restoration of chalk grassland would be completely inappropriate and unacceptable, because the trees are an integral part of the Dyke's special interest and character.

"The key to safeguarding the archaeological and ecological importance of the Dyke will be suitable woodland management. Local people's views will be sought before decisions on woodland management are taken."

Rodney Vincent, who runs the Wood Ditton website and had expressed concern that the trees could be under threat, said: "They could have avoided much local concern by consultation and making public their intentions, giving the reasons for the numerous paint-marked trees along this popular public path."

Sell-out restaurant back

■ TV STAR . . . Marco Pierre White.

■ BACK AT GUINEAS . . . Frankie Dettori.

TOP jockey Frankie Dettori and his business partner, chef Marco Pierre White, will be bringing their restaurant brand to Newmarket racecourse again this year.

Frankie's Bar and Grill will be open for business in a marquee at the town's Rowley Mile Racecourse on Sunday, May 4, when the Stan James 1,000 Guineas is run.

The temporary restaurant is returning after the success of last year when both sittings sold out in record time on the same race day.

This year there will be three sittings for the "Frankie's at the Guineas" package which is £90 a head for adults and £50 for children under 12.

It includes admission to the premier enclosure at the racecourse, an official race card, three-course lunch and a guest appearance by either Frankie or Hell's Kitchen star Marco Pierre White.

A celebrity tipster will give a talk at two sittings while a racing celebrity will give a review of the 1,000 Guineas at the third sitting, which starts at 4pm.

Stephen Wallis, managing director of Newmarket Racecourses, said: "We are thrilled to be welcoming back Frankie's to this year's Stan James Guineas Festival.

"Customers who came in 2007 thoroughly enjoyed themselves and therefore we are excited to be able to offer it to even more of our customers this year."

For more information about "Frankie's at the Guineas" and booking details, visit www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk or call (01638) 675500.

Teen 'stamped' on man in shop row

A TEENAGER described by a witness as "stamping" on a man while he was on the floor at a kebab shop has been warned that he could go to prison.

Patrick Murray, 19, admitted a charge of using threatening behaviour at the Istanbul Kebab shop in High Street, Newmarket, when he appeared at Sudbury Magistrates' Court.

The case was adjourned for the preparation of pre-sentence reports and Murray will appear again at Cambridge Magistrates' Court on March 20.

Ros Clarke, prosecuting, said Murray, of Buffalo Way, Cambridge, was in the shop with another man when Jack Robb came in. The shop manager said the two men were making a lot of noise and Mr Robb asked them to quieten down.

The other man with Murray punched Mr Robb, then held him while Murray punched him. Both men kicked Mr Robb while he was on the ground and the witness described them as "stamping on him". The other man escaped.

Pre-school praised for its 'good' role models

LEADERS of a pre-school have welcomed a report giving good marks in all categories.

Moulton Pre-school, which operates three days a week in the village hall, has been rated "good" for its facilities and activities in a report by an inspector from Ofsted, the Office for Standards in Education.

Pauline Paines, play leader, said: "We were very pleased. The report justifies all the hard work we have put in. There was very little to improve on."

The pre-school caters for 14 children, aged between two and nearly five. It operates on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays when there is also a lunch club for children if there is sufficient demand.

Margaret Roberts, the inspector, said: "The staff are very good role models and put into practice a very positive behaviour management policy."

She said staff should continue to assess the risk associated with the heating at the hall, where radiators have to be covered with blankets to prevent children from burning themselves. She also expressed concern about a fire door which was difficult to open.

Mrs Paines said: "We are trying to work towards improvements with the village hall committee and a new hall is being planned which would solve all the difficulties."

The inspector also asked for an improvement in the recording of children's progress.

But the pre-school received "good" marks for organisation, helping children to be healthy, to stay safe, to achieve and enjoy what they do and to make a positive contribution.

Burger chain gets late-night licence

Police and ex-mayor fear rise in anti-social crime

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A BURGER restaurant has been granted a licence to stay open until 1am – despite opposition from the police.

Agreement to give the Wimpy, in High Street, Newmarket, a late-night refreshment licence is the latest controversy over late opening of food and drink outlets in the town.

It follows a decision earlier this month to allow a filling station to sell alcohol as well as hot snacks, tea and coffee for 24 hours on most days of the week.

Opposition to the Wimpy application for food and non-alcoholic drinks, was on the basis of fears it could lead to increased violence and anti-social behaviour on the town's streets.

Councillor Warwick Hirst, former mayor, told Forest Heath District Council's licensing act sub-committee: "The High Street has become a no-go area for residents after 11pm and we feel this will add to the severe problems that the town already has."

Cllr Hirst said offences of violence had soared to 372 in 2006-7 from just 81 in 2003-4.

Sgt Alan Chaplin said the restaurant would become the fifth fast-food outlet open in the town during the early hours of the morning, meaning extra officers would be needed to ensure public order.

He added that officers had been called to the restaurant at 2.15am on October 21 to clear people from the premises, which should have closed at 11pm.

But the three-man sub-committee agreed to grant the licence subject to an agreement by the owner, Huseyin Hamit, to clear litter and empty litter bins.

Mr Hamit told the committee his business had suffered since the introduction of the smoking ban.

He said he did not intend to open every night until 1am, but would open on nights when the town was busy, such as after racing and the summer pop concerts at the racecourse.

Trevor Jones, area manager for Wimpy, said the chain's other outlets which opened until 1am found that 80 per cent of customers ate their food on the premises, which gave more control over disturbance and litter.

Bird scarer broken

THIEVES dismantled a bird-scaring device in a field to steal two gas cylinders together with regulators and pipework.

The equipment was stolen between 4pm on Friday and 7am on Monday from a field beside the A1101 road at Kenny Hill near Mildenhall.

WEEKLY NEWS Letters

THE Newmarket Weekly News welcomes your views. Write to: Readers Letters, Newmarket Weekly News, 15 High Street, Newmarket, CB8 8LX or send an email to editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk Please be as concise as possible and attach your full name, address and telephone number.

Support for three-tier system

Sir, I was delighted to read that students from Newmarket College had a school council meeting in Suffolk County Council's debating chamber.

I feel it is very important for people to realise from a young age how important communication is in order to get things done.

I feel we still have a long way to go in encouraging people to stick to what they believe in and not to be swayed by the majority's idea or give up on their ideas and beliefs for fear they will not be heard or listened to.

Pupils in schools should have a say in how their schools are run and, the bigger picture, if they should change to a different system or keep improving what is already on offer.

In 2007 many pupils spoke out, along with their parents, teachers, governors and headteachers, as to how they felt about the education system in Newmarket, signing a petition, writing letters to the appropriate people and talking to the general public in Newmarket getting their views on the three-tier or two-tier systems.

The overpowering message was that Newmarket was doing very well and wants to keep its three-tier system, along with many other areas.

The work has not begun, in fact there is very little information being offered, except the age at which our children's education will suffer.

If the Isle of Wight can do it, why not us?

Please people of Newmarket, do not give up, keep looking for options, always.

Stop messing about with the traffic

Sir, With reference to the front page article on the clocktower plan (Clocktower revamp set for spring start, Newmarket Weekly News, February 21).

Apart from costing far too much money to move, what difference do the councils concerned think it is going to make to traffic flow, except make it worse?

Also, at the moment, being on an island it is less vulnerable to vandalism.

Once there is access 24/7 to the base of the old clock, how long will it be before it suffers vandalism and graffitti?

Councillor Bill Burch is the only one on the councils with experience of the road haulage industry.

He knows what he is talking about when it comes to issues to do with lorries, so his remarks should be taken into account.

There has been far too much messing with traffic in Newmarket.

Let taxpayers know where their money is being wasted

Sir, Your reader last week who has written to Councillor Jaggard on numerous occasions, should also send a copy of correspondence to Richard Spring – he does respond! (Why is review 'bolt from the blue'? Weekly News letters, February 21).

Anyway Cllr Jaggard, you are now officially a joke as are those you lead, to keep defending the swimming pool fiasco.

You should be finding out who is responsible for the spiralling costs and doing something to make them accountable.

Setting aside £8 million of taxpayers' money for a swimming pool which will now cost upwards of £14 million, and over a year late, goes to prove these overpaid non-accountable consultants, contractors and employees you hire really are delivering value for money, but for who? Themselves.

Look at the cost of the parking fiasco.

Look at the cost of a new toilet block at the Rookery, great design, inadequate disabled facilities. What has been done for the disabled toilet users with carers of the opposite sex? Nothing, but when and if it does happen, who will pick up the bill? Not the consultants, architects, contractors, etc.

Your comments reported in last week's Weekly News were: "We have got to get on and finish the project, that's the main thing," and: "Solid progress is now being made".

Well, sorry for being thick, but it is quite obvious you need to get on and finish the project, but it should not be at any cost.

Do the honest thing Cllr Jaggard, come out and tell us all the true cost of the swimming pool fiasco, don't keep it hidden by hiding behind contractual issues, thus allowing private meetings.

Let the taxpayers of Forest Heath District Council know why and where their money is being wasted, but more importantly, put your hands up and admit you made a mess of it yet again.

Police recover stolen vehicle

The blue Ford Explorer was taken from Brickfields Avenue, on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate, between 1.30am and 9am on Sunday, February 10. It was later found unlocked in a car park in Plumpton Avenue, Mildenhall, with the stereo missing.

Anyone with information should call Pc Leah Driver at Brandon police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

■ NEW PLANS . . . the wreckage of the former social club at Tan House Lane in Burwell, after it was destroyed by fire last year.

Former social club hit by arson set to be rebuilt

A FORMER social club is set to be rebuilt – a year after it was wrecked in an arson attack.

The future of the old David S Smith social club in Tan House Lane, Burwell, was already the subject of discussion before it was burned down last year.

It had been closed and boarded up for a number of years since the Smith corrugated packaging material factory moved from Burwell to Fordham.

Now Burwell Parish Council has announced that "after long and difficult negotiations" with the insurance company, agreement has been reached to rebuild it.

Lesley Reader, parish clerk, said: "An independent firm, SP Property Services, has been appointed to draw up plans and obtain estimates and these will be presented to the Allianz Insurance Company for approval.

"It is hoped that the plans will be available by the end of March and that re-building work can start in the summer."

Fears over impact of flight changes

BY Pam Jenner
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

TRANQUIL rural peace will be shattered if planes queue over new areas near Newmarket and Cambridge as they wait to land at Stansted and Luton, say critics.

Changes to the way aircraft queue at busy times to land at the two airports are being proposed by air traffic control company NATS.

The proposals mean planes would be stacked over areas to the west of Cambridge, south of Godmanchester and south of Newmarket between Ipswich and Stowmarket.

But members of the Stop Stansted Expansion group fear peace will be destroyed by noisy planes.

Martin Peachey, group spokesman, said: "The new routes mean that aircraft would be flying over communities that have previously enjoyed relative tranquillity, where overflying will make a great impact because of the absence of other background noise.

"The question we are asking is why the holding stacks aren't being put to the east, over the sea. Given that most flights arrive from the east and the south, this would have far less impact on the population as a whole."

■ CONCERNED . . . John Reynolds will be looking closely at the new proposals.

Currently, aircraft bound for both airports share the same holding areas over Royston and Sudbury but the changes to the stacks and departure routes will also affect Saffron Walden, Haverhill, Linton and a line close to the A11, from Duxford through to Stowmarket.

Cambridgeshire County Councillor John Reynolds said the council would be looking in detail at the technicalities and working to ensure that any changes caused minimal noise disruption to communities in the Cambridge area.

He said: "These proposals mean more stacking facilities near to Cambridge.

"We do have some real concerns that new stacking proposals will have an impact on the local area.

"This is not just about overflying, but the height of overflying."

Terry Holloway, the group support executive for Marshall's of Cambridge, said: "As an airport operator we were consulted on the stacking arrangements to make sure there was no interference with traffic flying in and out of Cambridge airport. There was no conflict at all, so no grounds for objection."

Mr Holloway added that holding arrangements were a major issue for a large number of airports and that eliminating stacking through better traffic management would save carbon emissions and also lessen noise.

The proposals can be viewed at www.nats.co.uk and the consultation process closes on May 22.

New rector is appointed

THE new Rector of St Mary's and St Agnes' churches in Newmarket will be the Rev John Hardy.

Mr Hardy, 46, is due to take up his appointment in May – a year after the previous rector, the Rev Edmund Newey, moved to Birmingham.

At present, he is the vicar of Alston Moor in the Newcastle diocese, looking after three parishes in Cumbria and three in Northumberland.

He said: "I'm excited and looking forward to being back on home territory."

Mr Hardy grew up in the Cambridge area and his late father, the Rev Donald Hardy, was rector of Coton and vicar of Over.

His mother and stepfather still live in Coton and he has a brother living in Fulbourn.

■ BACK HOME . . . the Rev John Hardy grew up in the Cambridge area.

Mr Hardy, who has been a clergyman since 1992, is single.

He is due to be instituted in his new appointment by the Bishop of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich, the Rt Rev Nigel Stock, on May 18.

Drink-driving figures reveal 'crucial' case for more cash

DRINK-DRIVING convictions in Cambridgeshire have risen sharply since eight Eastern European countries joined the EU.

The figures, revealed last week, were greeted as evidence to back Julie Spence, Chief Constable of Cambridgeshire, over her fears about motoring offences involving some migrants.

Justice minister Maria Eagle said there were 793 convictions for driving under the influence of drink and drugs in the county in 2000.

In 2004 – the year the eight countries joined the EU – there were 1,083 convictions. That rose to 1,214 in 2005.

Cambridgeshire MPs backed Mrs Spence's call for extra officers to cope with migration-led crime trends in the Commons last week.

Malcolm Moss, MP for Cambridgeshire North East, said: "These are very worrying figures.

"Julie Spence has made a strong case for extra cash for the police in the county and other public services as a result of Eastern European immigration, which we took to ministers.

"These figures make clear that this is a crucial issue.

"They show that since the accession of eight Eastern European countries to the EU, there has been an increase in driving under the influence of drink and drugs in Cambridgeshire.

"In view of what Mrs Spence has said about cultural differences in regard to driving offences, I suspect this is not a coincidence."

In 2004, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Slovenia and Hungary became EU members, allowing their citizens to enter the UK without visa restrictions.

Earlier this year, the Weekly News revealed that drink-driving offences by foreign drivers jumped 381 per cent in three years in Cambridgeshire.

The number of Lithuanians arrested for drink-driving rose from 11 in 2003/04 to 122 in 2005/06.

A spokeswoman for Brake, the road safety charity, said: "The rising number of people being caught drink-driving in Cambridgeshire, sadly a trend reflected nationally, is of huge concern.

"All drivers, from the UK and Europe, need to be aware of the laws, and the consequences of breaking them."

Mrs Spence criticised the Government last September for failing to take account of pressures brought by immigration when allocating funding for Cambridgeshire.

She said the force should be given extra cash to cope with increases in drink-driving and knife crime, attacking the "London-centric" image of the county as a "sleepy, rural county".

■ EVIDENCE . . . latest drink/driving figures back the case for Chief Constable Julie Spence who says the county force must get extra cash.

Long wait times for ambulances

MID-ANGLIA residents face some of the longest waiting times for ambulances in the country.

Figures revealed this week show that 60 per cent of ambulances in the West Essex Primary Care Trust area, which covers Saffron Walden, arrive in less than eight minutes – the fifth- worst score in the country.

In Cambridgeshire, 68 per cent arrive on time – the 16th worst score in the country.

The figures, obtained under the Freedom of Information Act by the Conservative Party, show that the 20 worst-performing areas are mainly rural.

Stephen O'Brien, shadow health minister, said: "It is a damning indictment of Labour's treatment of our NHS that ambulance provision varies so widely across the country.

"Alan Johnson has not got a grip on the NHS.

"We know that they have presided over a growing disparity in the provision of drugs and healthcare, but the utter incompetence which gives rise to such patchy emergency care is unforgivable."

Human skull may be from Saxon times

A HUMAN skull pulled from a river could be nearly 1,000 years old.

The skull and other bones were discovered during dredging operations in the River Lark, near Mildenhall.

Police were initially called in to investigate but once it was established the remains were between 500 and 1,000 years old, archaeologists were brought in.

Anglo-Saxon and Roman remains have previously been discovered in the area, including a warrior found buried with his horse, during building excavations at the Lakenheath US Air Force base.

The Mildenhall treasure, a hoard of silver plate and other items, was discovered in the area during the Second World War.

Dragline operator Simon Wenn spotted the skull while working to clear the river as part of a project being carried out by the Environment Agency.

■ FACING THE PAST . . . Simon Wenn found the skull in the River Lark.

Picture: Keith Heppell 468795.

It appeared the skull had been penetrated by an arrow or spear.

A spokeswoman for the agency said initial dating of the skull had placed it at some period between 1066 and 1540 although there was a possibility it could date from Roman or Saxon times.

Ryan Ely, team leader in charge of the dredging operation said: "We believe this find to be an excellent example of co-operation and we were more than pleased to oblige when the council's archaeologists, Will Fletcher and Colin Pendleton, asked to undertake more work on the site."

Since the initial find, more bones have been uncovered – believed to be from a young person – as well as a 14th Century metal buckle.

Jockey Club to take on running of National Stud

The Jockey Club is taking over the stud, which has been established next to the racecourse for more than 40 years.

The future of the stud has been under discussion for a number of years since the future of the Horserace Betting Levy Board, which has managed the stud on behalf of the Government, was put in doubt.

Now the Department of Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) has confirmed the Government intends to pass ownership to the Jockey Club, which already owns the 500 acres of land on which the stud stands.

A Government statement said the stud had been running at a loss for the past six years.

The deal includes a guarantee by the Jockey Club to continue providing stud management training, already offered at the National Stud, for a minimum of five years.

Gerry Sutcliffe, minister of sport, said: "I am pleased that the Jockey Club has agreed to take on ownership of the National Stud.

"This means first-class training in stud management will continue and, importantly, the facility will be managed by an organisation dedicated to the improvement of horseracing.

"This move is also part of our wider policy of ending our direct involvement in the administration and financing of horseracing."

The formal transfer is expected to take place in about three weeks. A departmental minute has been laid in the House of Commons notifying Parliament of the proposal to transfer ownership to the Jockey Club.

Christopher Spence, chairman of the stud, said the announcement meant the future of the stud was assured.

"Everyone at the stud is absolutely delighted that at last the DCMS has resolved various issues and completion should be in two or three weeks."

He said the change of ownership would mean "business as usual" at the stud – one of just a handful throughout the world which is open to the public.

"From the Jockey Club's point of view it fits with their objectives to improve the thoroughbred racehorse and improve education and training for people in the industry.

"In time I'm sure there will be some reviews but I can't foresee any major changes.

■ CELEBRATING . . . Sean Travis. Picture: Keith Heppell 468671.

Sean repays trainer's faith

VETERAN stable worker Sean Travis has been celebrating with colleagues after being named Employee of the Year at the national Stud and Stable Staff Awards.

Mr Travis, 64, started working in racing more than 50 years ago and currently works for Newmarket trainer Jeremy Noseda.

His prize was £12,500, with the same amount going to Mr Noseda's Shalfleet stables in Bury Road stables to be shared among the rest of the staff. He also received a further £3,000 for winning the rider-groom category and an additional £3,000 went to the stables.

Mr Travis said: "I am also very grateful to Jeremy Noseda for nominating me. He has a lot of faith in me and I'm just glad that I've been able to repay it.

"It seems strange winning this award on my own as we are very much a team outfit at Shalfleet and I'm very pleased that my colleagues have been able to share in the success.

"Lastly, I would like to thank and congratulate the other candidates. They all helped to make this a very memorable experience for me."

This is the second year that a Newmarket worker has won the overall award. It is also the second year that a worker at Mr Noseda's stables was among the winners. In 2007 Sira Hornsby took first prize in the Special Merit/Hero category.

Inviting nests made to encourage bitterns to breed

NEW moves have been made to encourage a rare bird to start breeding once again in the fens.

Bundles of willow branches have been sunk in pools and channels at the Lakenheath Fen RSPB reserve to improve habitat for bitterns which are in danger of dying out in Britain.

Although bitterns returned to Lakenheath Fen in 2002 after a break of possibly hundreds of years, there has been no confirmation that the birds have bred there.

Last year and in 2006 a single male bittern was heard "booming" – its eerie mating call – at the RSPB reserve which was created from former carrot fields.

Now around 60 willow bundles have been introduced with the aim of providing egg-laying sites and hiding places for small fish such as rudd.

■ FLYING HIGH . . . a bittern among reed beds.

Surveys have suggested that increasing the number of suitable fish could improve conditions for nesting in the future.

Katherine Puttick, RSPB warden at Lakenheath Fen said: "We are hoping that these bundles will help increase fish stocks and, in turn, improve conditions for bitterns.

Bitterns, related to herons, are highly secretive birds that depend on large, well-managed, freshwater reedbeds. Lakenheath Fen, which covers 500 acres, was designed with the aim of conserving bitterns and other reedbed wildlife.

Graham Elliot, RSPB Fens Area Manager, said: "As we continue to lose coastal freshwater wetlands, places like Lakenheath Fen will become increasingly important for the species, such as bittern, that rely on them."

Marathon challenge for charity

A YOUNG woman is running the London Marathon in a bid to help people struck down by a genetic eye disease which has afflicted her family.

Emma-Louise McKenney, 28, hopes to run the gruelling 26-mile race on April 13, to raise £1,500 for Guide Dogs for the Blind.

The charity has helped people like her mother, grandmother and aunt, who all suffer from the genetic disease Retinitis Pigmentosa which causes tunnel vision and blindness.

Ms McKenney, of Kingfisher Drive, Soham, said: "I've seen the difference that the charity can make.

"They receive no funding from the Government and rely on people like us – those either crazy enough to do things like run a marathon, or kind enough to help give the gift of freedom and independence to a visually impaired person."

Ms McKenney, who is manager at the Lantern Puffins Playschool, in Ely, has been training by running between Soham and Ely, cheered on by youngsters at the after-school club she runs.

She has been fortunate enough not to have inherited the disease, but there is a chance she could still pass it on to her children.

She added: "My grandmother is in her 80s and has lost all her sight and my mum and aunt have only a small percentage of their sight left.

"They all have guide dogs and my aunt works part-time for Guide Dogs for the Blind."

Anyone wishing to sponsor Ms McKenney can also donate online at her page on the fundraising website *www.justgiving.com /emmalouisemckenney

Caravan wheeled off

A CARAVAN was stolen from the driveway of a house in broad daylight.

The Roma GT160 caravan, which is white with a blue stripe, was stolen from Hawthorn Walk, Beck Row, near Mildenhall, between 10am and 12pm last Monday.

A man wearing sunglasses was seen in a Vauxhall Cavalier with either an M or N registration which was towing the caravan. The caravan had been left secure on the driveway.

Anyone with information should call Pc Sarah Chapman at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

■ EXCITED . . . psychic medium Nicky Alan. CP.

Palace experiment aims to reach spirits

PSYCHIC medium Nicky Alan will lead a paranormal investigation at a centuries-old house with Royal connections.

Essex-based Nicky is planning an "overnight experience" at Newmarket's historic Palace House, which includes the last remaining part of King Charles II's palace.

But she said that people joining the investigation would not be ghost-chasing.

"It won't be running around getting scared," said Nicky, a former Essex police officer.

She is aiming to get in touch with the many layers of spiritual presence in the building, which is more than 300 years old.

But she has purposely not delved into the history herself.

"I'm excited about the investigation because it's never been done before at Palace House," she said.

"It's not ghost-chasing, it's a respectful experiment to get in touch with the many layers of spirit activity."

In previous investigations elsewhere, objects have moved and television sets have switched on without being plugged in.

Although staff at the Tourist Information Centre in the House, in Palace Street, Newmarket, have reported feeling "a presence" at times, no ghosts have been reported.

Tickets for the investigation, on Saturday, March 8, are £55 and include a buffet meal at the start of the evening.

The previous evening Nicky will be conducting an evening of clairvoyance at adjoining Palace House Mews for which tickets are £11.

Tickets for both events can be booked at the Tourist Information Centre (01638) 667200. More details about Nicky are available at www.NickyAlan.co.uk

Sword threat man's bail is extended

A DRUNKEN man who threatened police with a Samurai sword and threatened to "chop off their heads" has had his sentencing adjourned so that he can be considered for an alcohol treatment order.

Anthony Clark, 47, was due to be sentenced at Sudbury magistrates last Thursday. But the court agreed to a further adjournment until March 20 so that he could be assessed for an alcohol treatment referral.

He also admitted three further charges of criminal damage relating to the same incident last July, of causing damage to windows at flats in Newmarket, and will be sentenced for this, too, next month.

At his original appearance in January, magistrates heard that Clark was drunk when he went to the flats where his girlfriend lived and when police were called they saw he had weapons including the samurai sword and a meat cleaver under his dressing gown.

He then locked himself inside his own flat and brandished the sword through the letter box and threatened police until he finally fell asleep.

Clark, formerly of Icewell Hill, Newmarket, but now of Glebe Road, Letchworth, Hertfordshire, was warned by magistrates that all sentencing options were still open, including imprisonment.

His bail was extended on condition that he lives in Letchworth, does not go to Newmarket, and complies with the probation service.

Cambria Farm, 29 Prickwillow Road, Isleham, Ely, Cambs, CB7 5RQ

CAMBRIA Farm Cattery is a home from home for your feline friend. Built in 2006, this cattery is located in the tranquil surroundings of Cambria Farm in Isleham and is owned and run by Jane Wilton-Clark.

This purpose-built cattery holds the much sought after Feline Advisory Bureau (FAB) Listing. With less than 200 FAB-listed catteries in the UK, cats can enjoy first-class accommodation and care during their stay, while their owners will have peace of mind knowing that their cats are being cared for by dedicated professionals.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Jane has a lifetime of looking after a wide range of cats, dogs and small animals and has carefully designed the Cattery to cater for all your cat's needs. There are currently 17 individual rooms, each with its own spacious run, there is plenty of space between so that the cats can enjoy their neighbours company without any direct contact, this space also acts as a barrier to prevent the spread of any germs. All the rooms have heating which is individually controlled by a thermostat and a thermometer to ensure that a comfortable temperature is always maintained.

■ AT HOME . . . animals get top care.

■ OFFERING PET PEACE OF MIND . . . Jane Wilton-Clark of Cambria Farm Cattery.

Cambria Farm Cattery provides all the bedding and food for your cat but Jane recommends that you bring your cat's favourite toys or bedding to help your feline friend settle into its new surroundings and instantly make it feel at home. A wide range of foods is available so that your cat can enjoy the same diet as it does at home but specialist foods or prescription diets will need to be provided. Jane provides each cat with its own personal data sheet on the front of its room, giving the team of experienced staff essential information such as special dietary requirements, preferred time of eating or any medical information.

There are wonderful views from each of the rooms and the cats can enjoy watching the horses, cattle and pigs. Jane also breeds rare breed pigs and sells the delicious free range pork and sausages. This will be available to buy direct from Cambria Farm and also from their stall at Ely Farmers Market, starting on Saturday, April 26.

A brand new rabbit boarding facility has been added to the cattery this year. This has been built to the same high standards as the cattery and offers spacious and secure accommodation for rabbits and guinea pigs.

Opening times are by appointment, Monday to Saturday 10am-12pm and 4pm-6pm and Sundays and Bank Holidays 10am-12pm.

For more information or to arrange a visit to the cattery call (01353) 688288.

New tax to help gamblers gets backing

BOOKMAKERS are facing a new tax to help pay for gambling addicts to tackle their problems.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Some betting companies already pay a voluntary levy. But the Government is now making moves to make the contribution mandatory.

A levy would apply across the board, from one-man racecourse bookmakers to large chains, as well as slot machine operators and bingo halls.

Betting at Newmarket's two racecourses and the greyhound racing at Mildenhall stadium could be affected. Racecourse owners have welcomed the move to help gamblers kick their addiction.

Currently less than 10 per cent of licensed gambling firms pay towards the Responsibility in Gambling Trust.

The trust, set up in 2002, expects to receive nearly £3.5 million this year in voluntary contributions from around 311 out of the 3,800 licensed operators.

Andy Burnham, the Culture Secretary, announced moves toward a tax in the House of Commons on Tuesday.

The trust has previously said that it does not feel that a statutory levy is "either desirable or necessary".

In a response to a Government consultation about future funding, the trust said in January that businesses had been unwilling to commit themselves to future funding until a decision had been made about whether it would remain voluntary or not.

The trust has urged the Gambling Commission to keep a closer check on contributions made through trade associations.

"RIGT trustees believe that the voluntary route remains the best way for operators to demonstrate their social responsibility whilst also ensuring an efficient utilisation of available funds," the trust said in its response to the Government.

A spokesman for Ladbrokes, which has four betting shops in Newmarket, said: "We are one of the leading contributors to the trust.

"There is an ongoing debate about whether it should continue to be voluntary.

"But we are committed to seeing that the trust is adequately funded."

Stephen Wallis, managing director of Newmarket Racecourses, said: "This is a matter between the Government and the bookmakers but broadly speaking Newmarket Racecourses is in favour of anything that can be done to help people who have problems with gambling."

Firm in new bid to set up racehorse stables

A BID to establish new racehorse stables in Newmarket was opposed by council planners, town councillors and residents during a two-day public inquiry.

The company behind the scheme, FMFM Ltd, has appealed against two refusals of planning permission and two refusals of conservation area consent for the proposed stables at Kremlin Stud Yard in the town's Snailwell Road.

Rachel Almond, principal planner at Forest Heath District Council, said the company's applications had been turned down without being referred to the council's planning committee.

She said the scheme would split Kremlin Stud, which was used for nearly 30 years as an "overflow" by top trainer Luca Cumani from his adjoining stables.

The planning applications split existing stables from a cottage and paddocks which were part of the unit.

Permission was refused on the grounds the scheme would have an "adverse impact" on the operational effectiveness of the training yard and was against planning policy.

James Maurici, the company's barrister, argued the scheme did not break the planning policy to protect the horseracing industry.

He also said the cottage and paddocks had been separated from the stables for a number of years.

The site for the new stables was previously the subject of another planning battle in 2002 when there were plans to build a new horse hospital. That scheme was turned down by the council and an appeal rejected.

Planning inspector Julia Gregory, who conducted the latest inquiry into the stables, will give her decision at a later date.

Appeal over plan to convert home

A BID to convert a house into two flats is the subject of an appeal against the refusal of planning permission.

The application to convert 2 Feilden Way, Newmarket, was rejected by Forest Heath District Council on the grounds that it could set an "undesirable precedent" for the conversion of other family homes in the area. Planners were also concerned that the scheme involved the conversion of the garage into a room which would lead to a lack of parking spaces.

Now an appeal is being considered by a planning inspector. The appeal is being conducted through written statements.

Poetry quartet

LIVE music and poetry will be held at CB2's on Norfolk Street, Cambridge on Sunday.

The Headstand night will feature local poets Nick Stibbs, Helen Mort, Rychard Carrington and Patrick Widdess, with music from pianist Steph Brown, singer-songwriter Richard McGuire and indie band Moth Conspiracy.

The event will be raising funds for community radio station 209radio and will be broadcast on the station at 105FM.

Tickets are £4 and the show starts at 7.30pm.

Double mix

THE Middle Eastern sound of double bassist Daphna Sadeh comes to the Emmanuel United Reformed Church in Cambridge tomorrow.

Influenced by the mix of cultures she grew up in – Jewish, Arab, Christian and Bedouin – she has developed a unique style alongside her band The Voyagers.

Also performing is local singer Anne L Ryan.

The evening starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £8-£12. To book call (01223) 264991 or visit www.movingtone.com/tickets

Pony ride in

THE Pony Collaboration will make a rare appearance in Cambridge when they play the Globe Ale House on Hills Road, Cambridge, on Saturday.

The eight-piece band utilise everything from guitars and violins to glockenspiels.

Entry is free and the music starts at 8.30pm.

An Irishman walks onto the stage . . .

MOCK the Week presenter Dara O'Briain will be at the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Thursday, March 6.

The Irish stand-up comic is touring the UK with his new show which tackles subjects as diverse as the death of magicians, discovering naked men in hotel rooms and the war on bacteria.

As well as the hugely successful satirical panel show Mock the Week, Dara has recently been seen in the BBC Two's Three Men in Another Boat, which also featured Griff Rhys Jones and Rory McGrath.

He hosted Live at the Apollo on BBC One in December and BBC Two also recently broadcast his one man show, Dara O'Briain Live at the Theatre Royal.

His career started on Irish television as a children's presenter and he went on to build up a following as a team captain on the panel show Don't Feed the Gondalas.

Composer finds her voice in Tim's room

By Nik Shelton

HAVING started out as a shy piano composer with a fear of her own voice, it was always unlikely that Kate Walsh was going to transform herself into a guitar strumming singer-songwriter.

The Essex songbird's second album, Tim's House – so called because it was recorded in producer Tim Bidwell's bedroom – started off as a DIY project and soon picked up pace, earning her a dedicated following.

But things were a little different when she was growing up in the sleepy coastal village of Burnham-on-Crouch.

"I wasn't a performer," she says. "I did all the piano grades because I wanted to be a composer, and I had no idea I could sing, but now it's completely turned the other way.

"The first producer I worked with had heard my compositions and some singing I had done for my A-level in music, which he had somehow got hold of through a friend of a friend of a friend.

"He called me up and said: 'What do you want to do with the rest of your life?' I said: 'Well, I'd love to write songs'. It took him months to convince me that I would be doing the singing because it was just something I had never even considered before. I knew I could hold a tune but I didn't think it was anything particularly special that anybody would want to listen to.

■ RISING STAR . . . Kate Walsh. CP.

"But I love it now and I get so much pleasure from using my voice as an instrument."

Unfortunately, that first album was something of a false start and Walsh wasn't happy with the result. But she learnt her lesson the hard way, dusted herself off and landed on her feet at the Brighton Institute of Modern Music. The college was set up in 2001 and has begun producing acts like The Kooks, Beth Rowley and several other up-and-coming artists.

"There is an academic side to it but since the college has opened Brighton is just full of boys with long hair and guitars on their backs walking around town. For all those musicians who just weren't into classical music but felt driven to pick up an instrument I think it's a wonderful thing. Before that you could only really study jazz or classical.

"There's business studies classes to teach you about the industry and record deals and publishing deals, there's theory classes. I was in the songwriting class where there were lots of heated discussions about Radiohead."

■ Kate Walsh plays The Junction in Cambridge on Thursday, March 6. Tickets are £10. To book call (01223) 511511.

Behind each song there's a story

ROCKGRASS pioneers Hayseed Dixie return to Cambridge for their annual hoe-down at the Junction next Tuesday.

The band have made a name for themselves playing bluegrass versions of some of the best-loved stadium rock songs by the likes of AC/DC, Green Day and Motorhead.

However, their latest album No Covers sees them performing entirely original material and also sees them picking up electric instruments for the first time.

Seven years of touring the world, playing nearly every festival in Europe and watching every other band use drums and electric guitars, the Hayseed boys decided they wanted to put a bit of that instrumentation into their own music.

"We really wanted to stick a finger in the face of all those people who once called Bob Dylan a Judas," says lead singer and fiddle player Barley Scotch.

The album's opener Bouncing Betty Boogie owes its origins to a flight when Barley had picked up activist comedian Mark Thomas's book on the arms industry as his travel read of choice.

■ HOE-DOWN . . . for Hayseed Dixie at Cambridge's The Junction. CP.

"I was just finishing up the Mark Thomas book and I happened to have the interesting fortune of sitting beside a nice 60-plus-year-old businessman-looking fellow who turned out to be an American arms dealer," he says.

"We got to talking about guns and stuff and he whooped out his catalogue. Around page 20-something I got to the M-16 anti-personnel mine, nicknamed the Bouncing Betty. There was a studio picture of it backed by crushed velvet!

"So I asked the fellow, if I had gotten off my motorcycle when I was riding through Bosnia and ignored the "beware of land mines" signs and one of these Bettys bounced up and "rendered me nonviable" – the catalogue's words – might it have said "made in Springfield, Missouri" on the bottom of it?

"He took the catalogue back and quit talking to me and I ran into the airplane toilet and wrote the words to Bouncing Betty Boogie on a handful of toilet roll."

And each song on the album has a story behind it, it seems. In fact when you travel the world and play as many clubs and bars as these guys then you have enough stories to last you all night.

"When you travel every single day for months on end, you meet yourself some real characters," says Scotch.

"The music was inspired a lot by all the bands we played with at festivals and who supported us on our own gigs.

"Every one of them had drums and electric guitars, and we got to thinking that it would be a hell of a lot of fun to crank up a Les Paul and pound some drums on about half of the songs - we've always been a rock band, just using acoustic instruments.

"Why not get really loud this time? We think we stayed true to our roots while also moving ahead and growing musically."

Don't go missing out on a live performance by Kiki Dee

SINGER Kiki Dee comes to the Junction Shed, Cambridge, on Wednesday with her musical partner Carmelo Luggeri.

Kiki had her greatest success alongside Elton John, with the chart-topping hit Don't Go Breaking My Heart in 1976, but before then she had made a name in the business as a backing singer for Dusty Springfield and then with her 1968 solo album On a Magic Carpet Ride, which led to her becoming the first British artist to be signed by Motown in the US.

She has had a string of top 20 hits on her own and appeared in the West End production of Willy Russell's critically acclaimed musical Blood Brothers, giving a performance that earned her a Laurence Olivier Award nomination.

She has remained firm friends with Elton however and, in 2000, she appeared alongside him at New York's Madison Square Gardens for the recording of the live DVD One Night Only.

Period Property

THIS period Grade 11 listed cottage is situated on The Street within the picturesque and most sought after village of Barton Mills.

The village can be found just to the East of Mildenhall and allows easy access to the A11 link road connecting to Cambridge and London via the M11.

The cottage, located amidst a selection of large period and modern homes is entered from The Street into a small reception hall with further access to the sitting room and first floor. The sitting room is one of two main reception rooms to the front of the property and it is believed to have a covered fireplace, whereas the lounge has a wonderful brick fire and also enjoys dual aspect views to the front and side.

The kitchen/breakfast room, of generous proportions overlooks the garden to the rear and has a doorway leading onto the patio. The ground floor quite unusually has a bedroom and an en-suite shower/wet room which has its own independent side door and was originally converted for an elderly relative.

The first floor landing allows access to the three bedrooms and family bathroom. Bedroom one is located to the front of the property and enjoys a dual aspect outlook with a window to the front and floor level window to the side. It is believed that further investigation could reveal a fireplace, a wealth of beams and possibly untouched original floorboards (sts).

The second bedroom, to the front, is of double proportions and has a fitted wardrobe and a good sized walk in cupboard. The property also offers a third bedroom and family bathroom.

To the exterior the property has an enclosed rear garden with a patio and lawned area together with a range of small clunch and brick constructed stables and a single garage. Please note that this property requires some modernising.

Charming six-bedroom home

A GUIDE price of £445,000 is suggested for this substantial wing of a late Victorian house, situated in Gazeley Road in the popular village of Kentford.
It is one of three homes in this converted property, which once belonged to the society actress Lillie Langtry.
The accommodation includes a reception hall, drawing room, sitting room, dining room, kitchen/breakfast room, utility room, conservatory, cloakroom, six bedrooms, one with dressing room and en suite shower room, and three bathrooms.
There is also a large studio/storage building and a cellar.
Outside there is a good-sized enclosed garden which is laid mainly to lawn and includes a large paved terrace with well-stocked shrub beds.
For more details contact Jackson-Stops and Staff on (01638) 662231.

Offers lovely studland views

THIS remarkably well presented and thoughtfully extended detached family home is set at the end of a cul-de-sac, Barry Lynham Drive, in Newmarket.
The property, which is on the market for £265,000, has open southerly views over studland.
The beautifully appointed accommodation includes a lounge with fireplace, spacious refitted kitchen/dining room, rear hall/utility room, cloakroom, four bedrooms, all with fitted wardrobes, and a refitted family bathroom.
Outside there is a garage and landscaped gardens with a sun terrace.
Call Smart Residential on (01638) 560007 for further details.

Splash – from £8,999

PRICES for Suzuki's all-new Splash mini-MPV, which goes on sale March 8, will start from £8,999 for the 1.2 GLS model rising to £9,499 for the 1.2 GLS+, which adds 15-inch alloys, front foglamps and privacy glass on the rear side windows and boot lid.

Both are powered by an 85bhp 1.2-litre petrol engine mated to a 5-speed manual gearbox. The GLS+ model can also be equipped with a 4-speed automatic, priced £10,349. Combined fuel consumption is 51.4mpg for the manual, 47.9mpg for the automatic.

■ CITY CAR . . . the Suzuki Splash will be in the showrooms next month.

■ MINI-MPV . . . on sale March 8.

For those whose preference is diesel, the 1.3 DDiS model, with an identical specification to the GLS+, is £10,499. Its 74bhp Fiat-derived turbo diesel is capable of 62.8 mpg on the combined cycle and emits only 120g/km of CO2, making it eligible for £35 annual road tax.

Splash is one of the safest cars in its class – all models are equipped with six airbags – including two full length curtain airbags – and ESP electronic stability as standard – reflecting Suzuki GB's policy to make ESP a universal fitment on all new models and all major facelifts.

All Splash models are also equipped with a CD tuner with MP3 player and steering wheel-mounted audio controls; leather-trimmed steering wheel; remote central locking; front electric windows with driver's auto-down; air conditioning; electrically adjustable and heated door mirrors; height-adjustable front seats; tilt adjustable steering wheel; and an information display.

VOLVO'S new crossover vehicle really looks the business, which is a good job as the XC60 is entering into a tough and rapidly expanding market segment.

Looking strong and purposeful with flared wheel arches, a rising waist line and sleek shape, the new Volvo is ready to toe the line against the likes of BMW's X5 and the Land Rover Discovery.

The high ground clearance and large wheels should help it off-road but the XC60 is clearly designed to offer a great on-road drive.

"This car is charged with more emotive form and more energy than any other Volvo. We're elevating our design DNA to an entirely new level by literally turning up the visual volume. If you say that you'd recognise a Volvo from a hundred metres away today, I dare say the XC60 radiates a clear Volvo presence from at least twice that distance," says Volvo Cars design director Steve Mattin. Very designer-ish speak but there is substance behind the jargon. The XC60 has curves reminiscent of a coupe but it is still clearly a Volvo – a Volvo that happens to look great.

One of the biggest advantages of driving an SUV is the elevated ride height and a feeling of safety because you're in a big car. Combine this feeling with Volvo's legendary safety "DNA" and drivers will get the impression that they're bomb-proof. Some of you will wonder why that's important but many XC60s will be bought to take the children to school, so this strength will certainly appeal to buyers.

Volvo is increasingly focusing on crash prevention technology and the XC60 continues this trend.

City Safety is a unique system that can help the driver avoid or reduce the effects of low-speed impacts that are common in traffic. If the car is about to drive into the vehicle in front and the driver does not react, the car brakes itself.

The new XC60 is being launched with a choice of three engines: the turbocharged T6 which produces 281bhp, and two variants of the D5 turbodiesel, producing either 160 or 178bhp. All-Wheel Drive is fitted as standard.

Next year, a front wheel drive 2.4 litre diesel model will be released which is expected to come into the range as an entry level car. It will boast a 161bhp Euro 5 compliant engine which will emit 170g/km of CO2, pretty good when compared to the opposition.

The XC60 is scheduled to arrive in the UK in October with more details including prices made available closer to launch.

MOTORING

■ FEISTY 500 . . . great-looking supermini gets upgraded performance and the styling cues to match. The sexy Abarth is sure to give the Fiat 500 a sting in its tail.

Sexy Abarth 500 due

HOT off the press are the first official pictures of Fiat's new 500 Abarth – a high performance version of the just-launched Fiat 500 city car.

The 500 Abarth will make its international public debut at the Geneva Motor Show in March and was developed in the spirit of the legendary Fiat 500 Abarth of the 1960s.

Powered by a Fire 1.4 16v petrol turbo engine, it has 135bhp and peak torque of 152lb ft at 3,000rpm in 'Sport' mode. In 'Normal' mode, torque is reduced to 132lb ft at 2,500rpm.

Inside, the 500 features special instrumentation, with the addition of an analogue gauge to measure turbo pressure. An LED telltale that optimises gear changes by lighting up at the appropriate moment is also incorporated.

Riverside Autos bags larger site

ESTABLISHED in 1997 by Ian and Teresa Gray, Riverside Automotive has gained an excellent reputation over the past 11 years for high standards of workmanship and excellent customer care.

As members of the Good Garage Scheme, the firm has enjoyed record levels of business over the past year and in order to cope with rising demand for their wide range of services, the company has moved to larger premises.

At the start of the year, Riverside Automotive relocated from Unit 2 to Unit 5, 109, Fordham Road in Snailwell near Newmarket. The new facility includes a modern, state-of-the-art Class lV MOT Automatic Testing Lane (ATL) for the testing of cars and light commercial vehicles. The provision of a clean & warm waiting area enables them to offer a range of 'While-u-Wait' services including MOT's, tyre, exhaust and battery supply and fitting and all product prices are remarkably competitive.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

The new workshop is equipped with Bosch diagnostic fault-tracing systems and the latest service tooling. Riverside Automotive performs servicing and repairs on all makes and model of car and light commercial vehicle up to 3,500kg. They specialise in Volkswagen, BMW and Audi but their skilled technicians have all the necessary experience to perform work on any make or model of car or light commercial vehicle.

Other services include air conditioning re-charging, service and de-odorising and "in-car hands-free" mobile phone kits. They supply all brands including Nokia, Sony-Ericcsson and Motorola and audio interface kits are also available.

Riverside Automotive is east Anglia's main supplier for Sortimo International products, Europe's largest suppliers of vehicle racking systems. They also supply Soboflex CNC flooring and Sowaflex lining, an extremely durable and easy-to-clean answer to vehicle lining. From basic vehicle shelving to full bespoke conversions, Riverside Automotive has the solution.

For more information about the extensive range of competitively priced services and products supplied by Riverside Automotive visit them at their new premises at Unit 5, 109 Fordham Road, Snailwell, Newmarket (CB8 7NB).

Public Notices

Essex County Council

(MARKET HILL, SAFFRON WALDEN)
(TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2008

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

EFFECT OF THE ORDER: To temporarily close that length of Market Hill, in the Parish of Saffron Walden, in the District of Uttlesford, temporarily closing Market Hill from its junction with Church Street southwards to its junction with Market Square, a total distance of approximately 68 metres.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 25 February 2008 for 21 weeks or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting.

The closure is required for the safety of the public and workforce whilst construction works are executed adjacent to the highway.

The alternative route will be via Church Street; B184 High Street; and King Street.

Access will be maintained for emergency service vehicles, residents and visitors all times during the closure.

The Order will come into effect on 25 February 2008 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Dated: 28 February 2008.

Learning is at the heart of the Imperial War Museum Duxford and the Department for Learning delivers a high quality experience for all ages through formal and informal engagement with the collection. We are looking for a creative, innovative and driven team member who can play a key role in the development, supervision, delivery and evaluation of informal learning programmes linked to the Museum's mission of promoting understanding of aviation and conflict since 1914.

This is a new role, offering an exciting and challenging opportunity for the right candidate to work with an inspiring team and collection. You will need experience of teaching in schools/colleges or museums and of motivating and managing people.

You will also need experience of organising and delivering successful learning sessions; awareness of learning, access and diversity issues and will need to have enthusiasm for life-long learning in museums. We are looking for a friendly, confident, outgoing and approachable person who can communicate effectively and engage with a broad range of visitors.

For further information and an application form, please visit the Museum's website: www.iwm.org.uk

Senior Environmental Health Officer

Salary up to £36,954 (pay award pending) plus essential user car allowance and generous relocation package

You may not have thought about working in King's Lynn, but if you're looking for an opportunity to shine you should! The inward investment and regeneration ongoing in the area, which is set to amount to an estimated £3 billion over the next 20 years as the town's status as a major regional centre is reinforced, coupled with a Council and a large Environmental Health and Housing service with a great deal of motivation and enthusiasm, will provide you with great opportunities to develop your career.

We're not a traditional pollution team. We've merged our enforcement, prevention and community development functions into one "Community Safety and Neighbourhood Nuisance" team. You will take a leading role with complex caseload of noise, nuisance and other related matters as well as being the key contact for consultation on major planning applications and advising external groups, such as the noise forum and local action groups. As a Senior EHO you will also be responsible for supervising and supporting technical staff in the team.

Your background will include experience of working in an Environmental Health team and you will possess full membership of the Chartered Institute of Environmental Health (or equivalent) .You will also have experience of dealing with noise, odour and other public nuisance and environmental protection issues.

Applications are also welcome from experienced environmental protection officers who are not fully qualified EHO's but who posses a Diploma in Noise Control or Air Pollution who we will consider for the role of Senior Technical Officer. The salary range for candidates with this level of qualification would be up to £32,649.

Local Development Framework Manager

Salary up to £54,015 (pay award pending) plus essential user car allowance and generous relocation package or travel assistance scheme

You don't need us to tell you about Planning. You know what the job is about and the skills needed, but maybe you do need us to tell you about why you should work in West Norfolk, what's happening and why it's good for you and your career.

There's so much happening. With the agenda firmly on regeneration and delivering sustainable growth, the area is about to embark on major development, bringing new homes, jobs and a new infrastructure to West Norfolk, all of which will need careful planning and the right people to make it happen. Without a doubt it's a challenge - an exciting challenge and the Council will be at the heart of the process.

Reporting directly to the Head of Development Services you will form a key part of the management team. Responsible for managing, motivating and directing the team and raising the profile of the LDF, internal and external.

As a full member of RTPI you will have in-depth knowledge and proven experience of senior level planning. Your experience will enable you to provide planning and advice on new projects including the innovative regeneration projects planned.

For an informal discussion regarding this exciting opportunity please contact Geoff Hall, Head of Development Services, on 01553 616618.

NCTJ

TRAIN AS A JOURNALIST

Journalism is often seen as glamorous and exciting but, as with any occupation, success comes only after much hard work and routine activity. However, each working day as a journalist is different and the training you receive will give you the flexibility to cover a wide range of news stories and features.

Journalism draws on all the knowledge and skills you have acquired and can give you a tremendous sense of achievement. If you've got what it takes, journalism could be the career for you!

SO WHERE DO I START?

The NCTJ is the principal provider of journalism qualifications and training and offers a wide variety of training and learning options to suit everyone.

NCTJ qualifications are what editors look for when they are recruiting trainee journalists and these can be gained through full-time, part-time, distance learning or on-the-job training courses. We also offer press photography and photo-journalism training.

For further information about training as a journalist, please visit www.nctj.com where you will find details of all courses offered, locations of study and details of educational requirements.

aspiring to excellence

Based in Suffolk, Havebury Housing Partnership provides Social Housing and Supporting People services to West Suffolk and the Cambridge Sub Region. We employ 220 employees, manage 5800 properties and have an annual turnover of £20million. This is an exciting and innovative organisation, committed to the advancement and development of its employees.

Performance Manager

£30,420 - £31,956 per annum Bury St Edmunds

Havebury is embarking on its next five year plan entitled its 'Journey to Excellence'. As part of this, we need to raise our game in respect of performance management. We are looking for an individual who has the drive, charisma and attention to detail to help us both establish a new system and embed this into the organisation through ongoing management of the information provided.

Understanding of information disciplines covering performance, project and change management is essential, and a previous track record of using the Covalent performance management system is advantageous.

Development Manager

Starting salary £28,653 per annum (inc. car user allowance)
Maternity cover Bury St Edmunds

Working within the Partnership's Development team, you will be working on new development and major repairs programmes. You will assume a client representative role in development and refurbishment projects, as well as working with internal design teams and external consultants, to prepare and deliver our housing development programme and major refurbishment projects.

Ideally, you will have a construction/property background or knowledge, with an ability to understand plans and technical designs. You should be computer literate with excellent communication skills.

Knowledge of Housing Corporation procedures would be an advantage, and the ability to deal and communicate effectively with tenants, Parish and District Councils, developers and other professionals is essential.

You must have a full driving licence and access to a vehicle.

Equality and Diversity Manager

£30,000 per annum pro rata, plus car allowance of £1545 per annum
18.5 hours per week Bury St Edmunds

This is an excellent opportunity to raise awareness of Equality and Diversity issues for Havebury, driving our agenda forward across the organisation.

You will ensure that equality and diversity issues are an operational and strategic priority, and integral to our service delivery to tenants, leaseholders and employees.

You must have excellent influencing and negotiating skills, and be able to form effective working relationships in order to work credibly with employees across the business. The ability to run training and awareness courses is essential, as is having access to transport to travel within the area of our operation. A passion to make the Housing Partnership an example of good practice for all aspects of equality and diversity will be key to your success.

Benefits include: Flexible Working (with up to 15 flex days per year), Final Salary Pension Scheme, a Corporate Healthcare Solution - Employee Assistance Programme, Childcare Vouchers, 26 days annual leave (rising to 30 days after five years' service) and Free Car Parking.

For an application pack, please contact our Recruitment Hotline on 01284 722018 or email recruitment@havebury.com

Closing date: 14th March 2008.

Application packs will only be sent to the first 100 applicants per vacancy.

Havebury House, Western Way, Bury St Edmunds, Suffolk IP33 3SP.

Danes excited by Tigers' challenge

MILDENHALL Tigers' new 'Danish Duo' will look to call upon their impressive European experience when they begin their UK careers in a couple of weeks.

Jan Graversen, 20, and Casper Wortmann, 19, are both part of Denmark's Under-21 squad and competed across three European leagues between them last year. That experience will prove invaluable as they set about living up to their high assessed seven-point averages.

Graversen said: "My main goal is to achieve my average. I rode in both Sweden and Denmark last year and have learned a great deal from riders like Stefan Danno. I'm really looking forward to riding in England and to experience all the things that we will go through. Mildenhall's track is suited for me, it's small and fast.

"I enjoyed the individual meeting I did at the end of last season, despite falling in my last ride."

Denmark is regarded as the most successful European speedway country and current world No 5, Hans Andersen, has been mentoring Wortmann.

But the friends will clash on track on March 13 when the Fen Tigers visit Andersen's club, Peterborough, for an inter-league season opener.

Wortmann said: "It's a great challenge for me to come to the UK and compete. I had a busy year riding in Denmark, Sweden and Poland, plus some individual meetings here.

"I want to do as much as I can in England and it will be good to try out new tracks. Hans has told me a lot about the UK tracks and helped me out with advice."

Mildenhall will spend March tackling three of the Premier League's big hitters to progress further in the trophy, but skipper Robbie Kessler believes results are not the most important factor.

"Realistically, the trophy is for the new lads to get settled in", he said. "Hopefully we will win all the home meetings and by the time the league campaign starts, we'll be ready to show what we really can do."

Edwards puts side in line for double

Newmarket 5 Wisbech 1

CAMBS WOMEN'S LEAGUE, PREMIER DIV

WITH nearest rivals Cambridge South slipping to a defeat, Newmarket's comprehensive victory wrapped up the Premier Division league title.

Newmarket were penned in their own D as Wisbech tried to slot some shots into goal but an outstanding flurry of saves by goalkeeper Sue Edwards kept the scores level.

Newmarket began to forge their way into the match as the half wore on and they opened the scoring when Sarah Haird finished off a fine move sparked by Lydia Fison's quick break and involved Claire McDonnell and Di Thomas.

McDonnell then weaved through a number of players to place a ball in the back of goal, and five minutes later, she claimed another when she received the pass from Thomas.

Wisbech pulled one goal back before Haird caught the Wisbech keeper out of position to finish off Newmarket's final score.

Edwards was awarded player of the match for her superb and instinctive goalkeeping, and after clinching the league, they can now set their sights on repeating last season's league-cup double.

Ben is dealt a Blow

ATHLETICS

SUNDAY saw some of this year's Joggers marathon team head over to Bury for the gruelling Bury 20m.

Two of the Joggers elite team, Jim Beeton and Ben Blowes, were running the hilly course with Beeton first home in 29th place in a time of 2hr 19min 6sec.

Blowes was forced to withdraw from the race at the 15-mile mark with the effects of a recent bout of the flu finally taking its toll.

Next home was Mary Marsh (338th) in 3:20:38 for the ladies team closely followed by Sandie Jardine (357th) in 3:25:43.

The event also staged the Bury Nearly 10-mile event with Miranda Paul in (146th) 1:26:11 and Tracey Smith (147th, 1:26:11) crossing the finish line together.

MINI RUGBY

Nash treble shatters Walden

Newmarket A 30 Saffron Wdn 15

UNDER-EIGHT

SAM Nash led the defensive charge which saw Newmarket unsettle the opposition, driving Walden back into their own half. Nash scored a hat-trick of tries, Will Christie notched a double and Josh Dadds added another.

Newmarket A 35 Saffron Wdn 20

UNDER-EIGHT

NASH grabbed another three-try haul as Newmarket proved too strong again. Tage McEwan-Jonsson ran two in before half time and great passing play from the home team found Joe May and Dadds who both weaved their way through Walden's defence to score.

Newmarket A 35 Saffron Wdn 0

UNDER-EIGHT

NEWMARKET kept their opposition scoreless to round off a great effort. Harry Robbins and Christie each bagged a brace while tries from May and Dadds finished the game off.

Newmarket B 25 Saffron Wdn 40

UNDER-EIGHT

FREDDIE Stokes excelled, running in four tries but in the first half Newmarket took time to settle in defence. Shaun Leaman opened with a try for the home team after the break, but it was not enough.

Newmarket B 15 Saffron Wdn 25

UNDER-EIGHT

GEORGIE Burton scored Newmarket's opening two tries before Charlie Jones ran in their third but the visitors fought back at the end and scored two more.

Newmarket B 10 Saffron Wdn 35

UNDER-EIGHT

ELLIOT Parr was notable in defence and a try apiece from Jones and Stokes was some consolation for Newmarket.

Newmarket 0 Saffron Wdn 20

UNDER-NINE

NEWMARKET produced some of their best rugby but still found themselves on the wrong end of the scoreline.

Newmarket 5 Saffron Wdn 5

UNDER-NINE

BREAKAWAY tries were the downfall but all the players stepped up to be counted and can be proud of their efforts. Ewan Kingdom ran hard before a curling run resulted in him scoring in the corner.

Newmarket 0 Saffron Wdn 10

UNDER-10

NEWMARKET failed to play any of the attractive rugby that has served them so well this season as they were totally outplayed. Newmarket's forwards never got a look in at the breakdown and the backs were unable to string any moves together as the visitors ran out winners.

Newmarket 15 Saffron Wdn 10

UNDER-10

NEWMARKET made positional changes and they sparked a much better display. Harry McNaughton opened the scoring by finishing of a well-worked move, however Walden replied with two quick tries to lead at half time. But after the break, Max McKrill scored twice to give Newmarket a hard-earned win.

Newmarket 21 Saffron Wdn 0

UNDER-11

NEWMARKET started strongly with three quick tries from Bob Challinor (2), Barker and in the second half they did well to keep out a resurgent Saffron Walden.

Newmarket 40 Saffron Wdn 0

UNDER-11

WALDEN spent the whole half camped on the Newmarket line but the home side took the lead with a touchdown from Ben Bowers. The second half was a vintage Newmarket performance with Bartram (2), Jack Barker (2), Bob Challinor crashing over.

Newmarket 7 Saffron Wdn 7

UNDER-12

THE game was entirely dominated by the forwards on each side. Newmarket shaded the first and last quarters, with the honours going to Saffron Walden in the middle periods. Ethan Brown touched down for a converted try, Walden were able to level with a score of their own.

Jarvis delight as he battles his way back

OLIVER Jarvis came second in the sprint race as England slipped two places in the A1 Grand Prix table in South Africa.

The Burwell driver, left, collided with a competitor from New Zealand in the first lap and suffered significant damage to his car. But he overcame those early problems to cling on to second place and finish behind Canada's Robert Wickens in a time of 15min 29.146sec.

Jarvis, who has signed to race for Audi this season in the German Touring Car Masters (DTM), said: "I got a great start and managed to brake extremely late around the outside.

"I actually thought I was going to get the lead, but unfortunately New Zealand tagged Wickens, which just pushed him out wide which compromised me a little bit.

"Then as I tried to go around the outside of the corner, New Zealand again drove into the side of me and damaged the car quite a bit.

"I managed to get into second, but from then on I was really struggling and was never quick enough to challenge for the lead.

"But I was happy to finish on the podium."

Jarvis and Wickens collided in the feature race in Durban and neither were able to recover, with Jarvis having to settle for 11th place and a time of 1hr 3min 20sec.

Gleave is resigned to relegation

TIM Gleave believes Newmarket are doomed after they slipped to a 1-0 defeat against Ridgeons League, Premier Division relegation rivals Ipswich Wanderers.

The Jockeys' assistant manager feels his side will find it impossible to overhaul Wanderers, who are third from bottom and nine points ahead of rock-bottom Newmarket.

Gleave said: "We want to try to finish third from bottom and it was very disappointing as that was really our last chance of catching Ipswich – it feels like the final nail in the coffin.

"We've really got to win four games and, with our current form, that isn't very likely. It was a scrappy affair and we tried really hard to get the lads up for it and create the right atmosphere, but now it looks like we're virtually relegated."

Newmarket last tasted success in the league on Boxing Day and will be aiming to turn their fortunes around when they host Kirkley & Pakefield on Saturday.

■ And Newmarket will have more time to concentrate on the league after they were bundled out of the Cambs Invitation Cup with a 3-1 extra-time defeat to Histon reserves on Tuesday night.

After Histon had opened the scoring, Alex Watson fired home an equaliser from the edge of the box to make it 1-1 after normal time. But the visitors rallied in the extra period, netting twice to seal their place in the final.

Newmarket boss Karl Johnson said: "We were all over them but we were just naive and gave the ball away at the wrong end."

Brave 'Hall put up spirited fight

■ BEN NOWER . . . The custodian had his hands full against Cambs Invitation Cup holders Cambridge City on Tuesday night.

DESPITE a strong finish, Mildenhall were unable to find that elusive equaliser as they crashed out of the Cambs Invitation Cup 2-1 to holders Cambridge City in their semi-final on Tuesday night.

A goal in each half from Lee Roache and Michael Gash turned out to be decisive for the Lilywhites, but the home side forced the Blue Square South visitors to weather the storm towards the end.

Mildenhall refused to roll over and die, though, and pushed as hard as they could for the equaliser, after Roache's sixth-minute strike, with John Sands working City keeper Shane Herbert on eight minutes, while Owen Paynter fired just wide on 26 minutes.

City seemed content to sit back on their lead and went even deeper when Gash lashed home their second on the hour. But this tactic invited pressure on to the Lilywhites backline and Mildenhall could sense there was a chance to make things hard for their higher-league opponents.

And they were rewarded for their efforts with a goal on 66 minutes when former City winger Matty Robinson's free kick was headed against the bar by Dave Werthmann, only for Paynter to tuck away the rebound.

Both sides had further chances with Gash and substitute Nick Mountford both firing wide for City, while Spriggs missed an open goal for Mildenhall with two minutes to go. But City had done enough to return to the final.

■ Spriggs got the winner as Mildenhall fought back to overcome Walsham-le-Willows and climb into the top four of the Ridgeons League, Premier Division on Saturday.

Walsham took the lead after 20 minutes but Paynter grabbed the leveller just after the interval.

And Mildenhall completed the turnaround with 12 minutes remaining thanks to Spriggs, who pounced to fire home a loose ball after Sands' initial shot had hit the post.
